MRS. SCOFIELD AND FERRIS LOCKED UP A PECULIAR VERDICT GIVEN BY THE CORO.

NER'S JURY-THE TESTIMONY. Mrs. Lillian E. Scoffeld and David C. Ferris were held to await the action of the Grand Jury on a written wordlet returned at 7:10 last night by the Coroner's jury which conducted the inquest as to the cause of the death of N. W. T. Hatch, the broker. That verdict is worded as follows:

We, the Coroner's jury selected to ascertain the cause death of Mr. N. W. T. Hatch, have carefully raviewed have come to the ununimous conclusion that the said N. W. T. Hatch, who was found dead in the rear d of No. 64 West Twentieth-st., this city, on the morning of the 8th of May, 1888, met his death by acci-dentally falling or jumping from the rear extension of the said premises, impelled through his fear of exposure or violence, having been entired to the said premises by David C. Perris and Mrs. L. E. Scofield.

The signatures of all the jurymen were attached Coroner Levy found enough in the somewhat remarkably expressed verdict to warrant him in holdng the two persons mamed. He did not increase the Ferris for Mrs. Scoffold, and ashed for another bonds-man for her. Mr. Scoffold, not being mentioned in he verdict or implicated, was discharged. ner promised that there would be as little delay , and that the papers would be at once atted to the Grand Jury.

It was altogether an exciting day for Mrs. Scoffeld, who manifested greater emotion than ever before. Ferris sat near her, nervously stroking his long gray beard, and beside him stood his adopted sen, Philip M. Selxlas. Mr. Scofield sat alone in a distant corner, vearing a contented and almost happy look, and ing little interest in what was going on.

A DISCLOSURE IN MRS. SCOPIELD'S HISTORY. The hearing lasted about five hours. The line of examination principally concerned itself with the vements of Ferris on the eventful Monday night; the testimony of one witness dealt with Mrs. Scoffeld's history the elation of which caused a scene in the crowded The name of this witness was Charles Hooper, and it and his manner immediately sugted to some punsters present that he was going "whoop 'er up." asked to step down; but no. By what name did you know Mrs. Scoffeld? asked the coroner. "Mrs. Ferris."

A sensation shivered through the room. Mrs. Sco-field's face flushed, and she whispered: "I want to get on the stand! MRS. SCOFIELD BECOMES INDIGNANT.

The frequent interruptions of Mrs. Scofield while this testimony was being given induced the Coroner to tell her she would have to keep quiet. Mrs. Scoffeld-It is an outrage.

The Coroner-Well, if you wish you can go on the stand contradict it.

Mrs. Scofield—I shall, sir; out of justice to myself. Mr. Buck, her lawyer, severely dross-exact Reoper. He was almost convinced that he had at last traced some of the anonymous letters that have been showering in on the Coroner to their source and indeed, asked the witness if he was responsible for any of them.

Mrs. Scoffeld went on to explain that she had asked Hooper to send some pictures to the Florence, and to tell his messenger to inquire there for Perris's. coming more and more agitated under the worry ing succession of questions put to her, Mrs. Scofield made a serious charge against Hooper, and defying him to deny it. "He tried to outrage me," she ex-claimed. "He never sued me for the price of any pictures. I'll give you $5,000 if you prove it. It wasn't the pictures or their price he wanted."

In reply to Assistant District-Attorney Hartman, Mrs. Scofield said that she had drank some with Mrs. Scofield sam that she had drank some with Hooper in the Brunswick at his invitation, and he had proposed that she, as she had "lots of money," should help him in establishing a store in Nassaust. "I saw what he was after. Of course he was after money. You see his face. It'll tell for itself." She got two pictures from him, but no monetary consideration was spoken of, though he afterward sent in a bill for one, which she paid.

Mrs. Scofield became quite unruly in the hands of the jurors, at whose iterated and reiterated questions she had already manifested much impatience. One of them by an unlucky slip of the tongue addressed her as "Mrs. Ferris,"

"Beg pardon," said she, "my name is not Mrs. Ferris. It is Mrs. Scofield beginning the cowed juryman.

"Ye go your pardon," my murured the cowed juryman. "Welf, I hope you'll remember it." Presently she refused point blank to answer a question. "I don't think it has anything to do with this case at all," said she. "You ask me too many questions."

The Ceroner-Well, that's hardly for you to pass on But her composure was gone, and her wonderful self-posession had at last deserted her. Hooper was mad and Scofield maintained a strong and expression-Hosper went back on the stand as soon as Mrs. Scofield left it. He said he had had "no row at all with her; but had accompanied her home at her request, and had, at her suggestion, taken some wine with her.

MRS. SCOPIELD'S BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS David W. Hell, a bookkeeper with W. T. Hatch & Sons, was closely examined as to the nature of Mrs. Scoffeld's transactions with the firm, and as to whether they were prefitable or unprofitable. He said that the monthly statement rendered on April 30 showed a debit against Mrs. Scofield of $19,633, against which W. T. Hatch & Sons held 200 shares of Manhattan Elevator, 200 shares of Union Pacific and 100 shares of Western Union, in all worth $30,500. There was a balance in her favor of $11,500, and she still had an Ferris was once more recalled. He went to the stand resignedly, and was as tantalizing as a witness as bofore. He wald that he had got his first intimation of Mr. Hatch's death from a newspaper bulletin board. The Coroner-Can you give us any other explanation of your reasons for kiring a detective to watch Mrs. Sconeld and Mr. Hatch than you gave before?

Mr. Buck called Philip M. Scixias, commonly known as "Richard," Mr. Ferris's adopted son. The young man said that on the Monday night in question Mr. Ferris was in bed about 9:45 o'clock. He had himself come in then, and not hearing his adopted father's accustomed suore, he had taken the trouble to walk into his bedroom and up to his bed, where he found him sleeping quietly.

Lawrence Finnegan, a coach driver at the Hoffman House, testified that on that Monday night he drove Mr. Ferris from the Hoffman House, arriving at No. 277 West Seventy first-st. at 9:30 or 0:35. A PROTEST FROM MINORITY SHAREHOLDERS. The suit recently brought in Connecticut to close the affairs of the Continental Construction and Improvement Company is in effect a protest on the part of minority shareholders. It is about a year ago that of trustees. The agreement specified five years as the period of the trust, but the minority stockholders say that the purpose was to make a sale of the Boston Hoosac Tunnel and Western to the Fitchburg Railroad. This transfer was accomplished certainly, and the Construction Company received for its property $7,000,000 in this way: it received outright $2,000,000 preferred, and $2,000,000 common, stock of the Fitchburg Railroad, and that company assumed the payment of $1,400,000 Hoosac Tunnel debenture bonds, and also reserved $700,000 preferred stock into which the $2,800,000 Hoosac Tunnel stock could be converted at the rate of four for one.

The minority stockholders have expected for nearly the greater part of the stock was placed in the hands

The minority stockholders have expected for nearly a year that the proceeds of the sale to the Fitchburg would be distributed, because the purpose of the trust had been accomplished, but they have been met with the assertion that the sale was made by the directors of the Hoosac Tunnel and not by the trustees of the Construction Company. The distinction is so slight that at last the minority stockholders decided to test the validity of the trust.

ICE CREAM SUSPECTED AS THE CAUSE-ALL WILL RECOVER.

The eleven members of the family of Samuel Koch, of No. 362 Bridge-st., Brooklyn, were taken ill with acute cholera morbus on Sunday, after a dinner the chief features of which were fricasseed chicken and ice cream. Dr. W. J. Cruikskank attended them and lee cream. Dr. W. J. Cruikshank attended them and all have recovered but the youngest, a girl of six years, who will get well. Neither the family nor the doctor are able to explain the cause of the filmes. Mr. Koch thinks it was the ice cream, as that was the only thing eaten by every one at the dinner. They had three pints of Neapolitan cream from Marest. Dr. Cruikshank said he was not called in soon enough to determine what caused the trouble. Mr. Marest said the cream was frozen fifty quarts at a time and was served on Sunday to fully 200 customers, and no complaints had come from any one clse. He uses only pure fruit or vegetable flavors, and pains are taken to use the most scrupulous care in keeping everything clean, sweet and pure. the Cincinnati Medical College in 1837, and practised in Chillicothe, Ohlo, until 1850, when he was called the New-York Medical College. HELD FOR ARSON ON LONG ISLAND.

In the Long Island City Police Court y F. Bory, his wife Emma and her sister Martha were arraigned before Justice Kavanagh, charged with arson in the first degree. Bory was remanded for examina-tion on Saturday and the women were released on They are accused of baving set fire on July 13, 1887, to their house in Prospect-st., Dutch Kills, which was destroyed together with the wing of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church. Bory has written a letter Roman Catholic Church. Bory has written a letter to Police Captain Anthony A. Woods, of the Long Island City Police, stating that he was employed by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Werner, to burn the house on the promise of a set of bar fixtures. He also implicated his wife and sister-in-law. He makes other grave charges against his wife. Mrs. Bory lives at No. 219 Forsyth-st., this city.

A EUSH TO ESCAPE THE FLAMES.

A cry of "fire!" ran through the six-story factory building No. 264 Canal-st. soon after the employes got to work there yesterday morning. Men and women hurried out of the Crosstown Bookbindery on the upper floors in good time to escape the smoke, but some of them had to go by way of the roof. Flames had started in the fuculture warehouse of Cingman & Campbell on the third floor, and they extended to the shoe factory of H. Huette in the fourth story before the firemen arrived. It did not take long to get the fire under control, and the damage to the building did not exceed $500, but furniture worth $8,000 was destroyed. The damage in the shoe factory was about $1.500. Schoenfeld & Wolffe, dealers in dress trimmings, lost $1.000. There was slight damage by smoke in the book-bindery. All the property was said to be insured.

FATAL RESULT OF AN ASSAULT.

John W. Coburn, who is said to be related to Joe Coburn, the prize fighter, was sent to the Tombs on Sunday for assaulting Philip Becker in West Fortyfirst-st. the day before. Yesterday Becker died of his injuries at Roosevelt Hospital. Coburn says that he was passing by No. 520 West Forty-first-st. on Saturday in company with his wife, when he was attacked by five men, one of whom was Becker. He resisted them, and finally escaped. In his ante-mortem statement Becker said that Coburn had, without the slightest provocation, knocked him down and kicked him. Becker's head bore evidences of a severe kicking.

HENRY GRORGE LOSES A LEGACY.

The Hutchings will case was decided by Vice-Chancellor Bird of New-Jersey yesterday in favor of the contesting heirs. Hutchings was a wealthy farmer in Gloucester County and became a convert to the George doctrine of land ownership and a clause of his will contained a bequest to Henry George for the purpose of disseminating his theories among the people. heirs contended that the bequest was neither charitable benevolent nor educational. The Vice-Chancellor in his opinion said that George advocated practices in respect of real estate in violation of the laws of the land. He could not sanction the spreading of such a sentiment. The will was therefore broken.

THE REV. MR. BROOKS NOT ALLOWED TO RESIGN. At a meeting of the members of the Stuyvesant Avenue Congregational Church in Brooklyn last evening, the resig-Congregational Church in Brooklyn last evening, the resignation of the pastor, Jesse W. Brooks, was considered, it had been offered in response to a request of the trustees growing out of the unsatisfactory state of the finances of the church. Benjamin Linikin offered a resolution that as the trustees had usurped authority, they be asked to rescind the request for Mr. Brooks's resignation. Professor Alien explained that the statement in regard to Mr. Brooks's asking for $500 increase in salary was incorrect. Trustee Tuttle stated that the Board of Trustees had acted as they did crease in salary was incorrect. Trustee Tuttle stated that the Board of Trustees had acted as they did solely because of the financial condition of the chirch the expenses of which were double the receipts. After some discussion, Mr. Linkin's motion was adopted. resolution to accept the resignation of Mr. Brooks was defeated by a vote of 18 to 14. In view of the disaffection toward the pastor and the state of the finances of the enurch, it was decided to call a council of neighboring Congregational churches to meet next Monday and advise Congregational churches to meet next Monday and advise paster and people in regard to the best course to pursue in

THE RUDGET FOR EDUCATION IN BROOKLYN. At a special meeting of the Board of Education in Recollyn yesterday the amount of the budget for educa-tional purposes for the coming year, to be presented to the Board of Estimate, was fixed at $2,171,183. Last year the appropriation was $2,030,114. The resolution offered by

Nelson J. Gates providing for the sotting apart of $20,000 for industrial education, was defeated after a long debate. THE OPPOSITION TO MR. JASPER.

IT IS NOT LIKELY TO SUCCEED IN DEFEATING HIM

TO-DAY FOR SUPERINTENDENT. The election of a Superintendent of Public Schools will come up before the Board of Education at its seszion this afternoon. A strong effort will be made to defeat the re-election of Superintendent John Jasper. although no other candidate has yet been ment

Commissioners Galloway, Sprague and Schmitt are the most active members of the Board in their opposition to Mr. Jasper. No definite specifications have been made against him, but among the reasons for their opposition it is charged that he has not properly removed teachers who were incompetent and that he has been unduly severe with other teachers.

Members of the Board of Education said yesterday that Mr. Jasper would probably be elected by a majority of four or five votes. Older members, like Comnissioner J. D. Vermilye, William Wood and Charles L. Holt, are indignant at the opposition, which they say is founded only in the fancies of a few members of the Board. President Simmons said that if a publie official who has served faithfully for sixteen years was to be turned out on such slight charges as those brought against Mr. Jasper, the whole system in the public schools would be demoralized. An effort will be made to consider the matter in executive session, but Mr. Simmons said that he should oppose such action, it it is suggested, as injurious to the schools.

If there was anything against Mr. Jasper's cha acter it ouught to be known and stated publicly. Stephen A.
Walker, United States District-Attorney, and for many years president of the Board of Education, is one of Superintendent Jasper's strongest friends in this contest. The principals in the primary and grammar schools have also passed resolutions condemning the statements that have been made against Mr. Jasper's work in the public schools.

THE JURY BOX FILLS AND EMPTIES.

WELVE JURORS AT ONE TIME IN THE DAY BUT ONLY TEN AT THE PINISH.

The jury box in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, where the trial of Thomas B. Kerr for bribery is occupying the attention of Justice Patterson and the prominent lawyers engaged for the people and for the prisoner, was filled at one time yesterday, but at the hour of adjournment there were two vacancies, Selections were made from the eighth panel of jurors, nearly all of whom answered to their names. The first thing done in the morning was to ascertain that the man whose name was first drawn from the wheel was incompetent on account of his opinions. He was excused and two others who were acquainted were permitted to depart.

Paul Hahn, glassware, of No. 262 Greenwich-st., was placed in the box. He said he would not believe an informer, but would give due consideration to stimony corroborating an informer. Juror No. 10, George P. Hammond, was then peremptorily challenged by the defence. After a long examination George W. Frederickson, photographer, of No. 69 West Ninety-sixth-st., was selected as a juror and the box was full. The counsel for the defence withdrew for consultation and in a few minutes returned and Mr. Cockran announced that they were satisfied with the jury as it stood. Then the District-Attorney prosented his eighth peremptory challenge, removing 11, Mr. Wilson, was soon after peremptorily challenged by the prosecution. Many more proposed jurors were examined, and finally Albert G. Wood, real estate dealer, of No. 40 Newst., was placed in the fourth seat. Juror Frederickson said his wife was ill and he was excused. The court adjourned until this morning.

THE COURTS

BITS OF LEGAL NEWS. Judgment by default having been taken in the Supreme Court in behalf of Marie Geistinger, the prims donna, against Gustav Amberg, the theatrical manager, on a claim for $8,500 which she lent to him on August 12, IS84, Howe & Hummel on behalf of the defendant yesterday obtained from Justice Dugre an order opening the provided the defendant pays costs and deposits $100 more than the amount in court, or gives the bond of a surety company for an equal amount. Mr. Amburg says that his former attorneys have neglected properly to present his side of the case. He acknowledges that he borrowed the money, but says that it was to be repaid only after six months' notice had been given by the plaintiff that she demanded it, and that an seconding has been had with Madame Geistinger by which all claims against the defendant have been liquidated.

Abraham and Leo Schlesinger, whose tin toy store at Nos. 628 and 630 Broadway was partly burned on July 2. 1887, was insured for $25,000 in various companies, in ciuding $2,000 in the Springfield Fire and Marine Insur-ance Company. In a suit against this company, tried in the Superior Court before Justice Freedman and a jury, they recovered $1,248 yesterday.

The motion made on behalf of Miss Clara Campbell, that the appeal of Charles Arbuckle from her judgment against him for $45,000 for breach of promise of marriage be dis-missed for irregularity in the service of the papers, has been denied by the General Term of the Supreme Court.

DEMOCRATS ON TRIAL FOR ELECTION FRAUDS. Indianapolis, May 15 (Special).—The trial of Democratic politicians charged with compileity in the conspiracy to commit election frauds in 1886, closed to-day, and the jury is now deliberating upon a ver-The defendants number seven, among whom are a State officer, Dr. C. N. Metcalf, secretary of the Indiana Board of Health, who is charged with procuring the acid used on the tally sheets; a county officer with two of his deputies, and the law partner of Congressman Bynum. The arguments of the attorneys for the defendants was a bold appeal to attorneys for the defendants was a bold appeal to the political prejudices of the Democratic members of the jury, and some audacious assertions were made, one of the lawyers even going so far as to say that a Democratic inspector who gave testimony that was damaging to the defendants was himself guilty of the crime and desired to shift it to others.

PREPARED TO SHOW UP SCOTT'S RECORD. Pittsburg, May 15 (Special).—Secretary William Martin and President William Well, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, and John Jarrett, secretary of the American Tin Plate Association will start for Washington to-morrow night, with volu-minous documents containing data and statistics in re-gard to Congressman Scott's poor treatment of his miners and other employes. Most of the matter has already been sent to Washington to Congressmen Reed and McKinley who will reply to Mr. Scott on behalf of his wageworkers.

NEW-ZEALANDERS KILL AN AMERICAN CONSUL San Francisco, May 15.—" The New-Zealand Herald" of April 10, which arrived here on the Alameda, contains an account of the murder of the American Consul at New-Britain. The natives of the island had been fighting, and they asked the consul to arbitrate. He attempted to do so, when he was attacked by one party and had a narrow escape, retreating through the bush. The natives kept after him, and finally killed him. He is said to have been a new man to the place. STOCKS WITHOUT FEATURE. SMALL FLUCTUATIONS IN PRIORS.
